Myron Keehn

President and Chief Executive Officer,
Edmonton Airports

Myron Keehn is President and CEO of Edmonton International Airport (YEG). Myron's 30 years of experience working in the private and public sectors in North and South America, Asia, and Europe help him to see and implement new and effective approaches to airport developments and operations.

In Myron's 15 years at Edmonton Airports, he has driven the development of YEG's Airport City Sustainability Campus - an ecosystem of companies driving innovation in e-commerce, cargo/logistics, advanced manufacturing, and pharma. His vision and tenacity have attracted over $1.2B USD of private investment to YEG. Myron's mission is to recast the roles that airports play, evolving beyond utilities into economic engines for cities, regions and countries.

Prior to YEG, Myron built a career focusing on how to drive economic potential of private and government-owned assets to maximize returns for countries by driving national investment and commercial plans.

Myron is an active Director on governing boards across a range of sectors including real estate, healthcare, private industry, and philanthropy.

Patrick Quealey

Deputy Director
Indo-Pacific & Asia,
Natural Resources
Canada

Patrick is the Deputy Director for Asia within the Bilateral Affairs Division at Natural Resources Canada. Patrick has served in this role since August 2022.

Previously, Patrick has served as a A/Director of Economic Development at Indigenous Services Canada (2016-17), Deputy Director of Regional Policy Issues and Indigenous Relationships in the Ontario Regional Director General's office for Environment and Climate Change Canada (ECCC) (2013-2022), Deputy Director of the Oil and Gas division at ECCC (2021-2022), senior policy advisor at the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade (2004-2013). He also remains a subject matter expert related to climate/resource security, and has provided advice to the Privy Council Office and Department of National Defence.

While at Foreign Affairs (now Global Affairs Canada), Patrick was a lead Canadian negotiator under the UN Climate Change Convention and the IPCC, and lead the development of Government of Canada views on the linkages between environmental degradation, climate change and security in the context of foreign, development and defence policy. Patrick has also managed Canada's financial contributions to the United Nations and associated agencies.

Outside of official duties Patrick has been a member of Project Comfort (2018-2020), and has served on the program committee for the Couchiching Institute on Public Affairs' annual policy conference. From 2011-2013, Patrick served as the Vice-President of Causeway Work Centre's Board of Directors. Causeway Work Centre promotes employability for individuals suffering from poverty, mental illness, and addictions. In addition, Patrick has served as member, then chair of the City of Ottawa's Environmental Advisory Committee (2004-2012).

In 2006 Patrick created the Ottawa Sustainability Fund (www.osfund.ca), a private endowment focused on funding projects which enhance renewable energy and energy efficiency at the community level. The Fund is now housed within EnviroCentre.

Patrick was born in Montréal Canada and holds degrees from the London School of Economics and University of Waterloo and is the proud father of two boys. In the course of his professional and personal pursuits Patrick has experienced mid-night negotiations at gun point; read a children's story to NATO generals; been given a private delegation tour of the Parthenon; and has explored a 2000 year old Roman cistern in Jordan. Despite this, or perhaps because of it, there's nothing else he'd rather be doing.
